

4flow iTMS - the next-generation transportation management system

Manage transportation processes with an integrated transportation management system

For globally operating businesses, transportation costs often account for more than half of supply chain costs. The potential for cost reduction is significant. Transparency is the key for end-to-end cost savings and fast responsiveness to market changes.

Plan and optimize transportation plans

The 4flow iTMS, the integrated transportation management system, creates transparency across all transportation processes. In just one tool, it brings together all three levels of supply chain management - strategic, tactical and operational.

Order and manage the dispatching of loads

Display analyses & key performance indicators

By creating planning scenarios, the 4flow iTMS identifies optimal transportation concepts and makes savings potential visible and achievable.
